TONS OF DYNAMITE EXPLODE

FRAGMENTS OF LANTERNS INDI-CATE THAT SOME MEN MAY HAVE BEEN KILLED.

Duluth, March 13.—In an explosion of eight tons of dynamite at the works of the Great Northern Power company, at Thomson, Minn., during the evening, seven men were injured, none fatally, and several scores of workmen had miraculous escapes from instant death. A powderhouse, roundhouse and steam shovel were reduced to kindling wood and masses of twisted iron. At the time of the explosion there were between 200 and 300 men within 1,000 feet. Nearly all of these were thrown to the ground by the force of the concussion, but as far as can be learned nearly everybody is accounted for. Fragments of lanterns here and there, however, give evidence that the owners may have been caught by the explosion, but this theory cannot be verified. The list of injured so far as can be ascertained is as follows:

Fred Walsh, an engineer; George Young and John Gates, all employees of the company.

For a radius of forty-five miles in every direction from Duluth the concussion could be distinctly felt. In Duluth every house in the city shook and in a number of instances dishes and bric-a-brac rattled as though an earthquake had occurred. The opinion everywhere prevailed that the explosion was close at hand. A Carlton, twenty miles from this city and but one and a half from the scene of the explosion, the concussion was not felt at all and the inhabitants there were not aware that one had taken place until informed by telephone. Messages were sent for physicians from that point and Clouet, six miles distant, and by means of teams they hastily responded.

The Great Northern Power company's powderhouse is on the St. Louis river, eighteen miles from Duluth and two miles down the river from Thomson. The cause of the explosion is not known.

The man who was in charge of the powderhouse had just visited it and locked the door for the night just before the explosion. He had walked about fifty yards from the powderhouse when the explosion took place. The man was thrown violently to the ground by the shock.

An idea of the force of the explosion is obtained from the fact that the dynamite tore a hole twenty-five feet deep and fifteen feet across at the site of the powderhouse.

SELECTS SPECIAL COUNSEL.

Commerce Commission Preparing for Oil and Coal Rate Inquiry.

Washington, March 13.—The interstate commerce commission has taken preliminary steps toward compliance with the Tillman-Gillespie resolution adopted by congress directing the commission to make an inquiry into alleged restraints of certain railroads in the handling of coal and oil. The first step taken was the selection of special counsel in the investigations, and during the day the commission announced that Edward B. Whitney of New York and William A. Glasgow, Jr., of Philadelphia, had been retained as such counsel. While some of the hearings will be held here, it probably will be necessary to conduct hearings in other cities. The inquiry will be directed toward traffic to tidewater and to the interior as well, hence the hearings will cover the East and the Middle West. Mr. Whitney is a Yale graduate and a classmate of Secretary Taft. He was assistant attorney general of the United States under Attorneys General Olney, Harmon and McKenna from 1893 to 1897 and has taken part in the argument in the supreme court in cases coming under the interstate commerce law as well as the income tax and other cases.

Mr. Glasgow has been counsel for the commission in cases in the supreme court.

Five Killed and Fifteen Wounded.

Warsaw, March 13.—Five persons were killed and fifteen wounded in a fight at Strykoff, government of Piotrkoff, Sunday, between Catholics and sectarians who occupied in force a Catholic church. Knives, sticks and pitchforks were used.

Wharves Badly Damaged.

Antwerp, March 13.—Equinoctial tides during the day destroyed wharves and flooded warehouses here. The damages are estimated at several millions of dollars.

SHARP DIVISION OF OPINION.

Senators Argue Over President's Message on a Resolution.

Washington, March 13.—There was a sharp division of opinion in the senate during the day over the question whether the Tillman-Gillespie resolution, instructing the interstate commerce commission to inquire into the railroad holdings of coal and oil lands, was of a character justifying the president's message regarding it. Senator Tillman complained that the president had charged the congress with insincerity, pretense and ignorance, and Senators Lodge and Spooner took the position that the charge of ignorance was warranted. The debate was spirited but was interrupted at 2 o'clock, when the railroad bill was called up and Senator Culberson made a two-hours' legal argument in which he supported a bill of his own which he has introduced as a substitute for the pending house bill. Senators Ekins and Bacon announced that they would discuss the resolution and message later and predicted that several others would do the same.

In executive session of the senate the Isle of Pines treaty was called up but objection was made to its consideration without a quorum of the senate being present and it went over.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

District of Columbia Legislation Receives Attention.

Washington, March 13.—The house devoted its attention to legislation for the District of Columbia during the day with the exception of making an inquiry of the secretary of the treasury regarding fees for additional services in customs cases, which may have been paid the United States district attorney for the Southern district of New York. Four local bills were passed, two tabled and one recommitted. An effort to bring up the Nelson bill failed because of a lack of a quorum.

RESCUERS PERISHED

SEVENTEEN MET DEATH WHILE SEARCHING FOR VICTIMS OF MINE DISASTER.

Paris, March 13.—An additional disaster following during the day upon the terrible calamity that befell the workers in the coal mine at Courrières on Saturday has cast its shadow over the stricken town. A party said to consist of seventeen men who went into the mine for the purpose of recovering the bodies of those who perished on Saturday lost their lives in the undertaking. They had descended in spite of the engineer's warnings against making a further effort.

A gang of twenty-five Westphalian miners who, it is believed, were sent to Courrières at the express desire of Emperor William, arrived during the day with special salvage apparatus, but no further work will be permitted until the mines are cleared of gases, which it is expected will take forty-eight hours. The engineers during the afternoon hermetically closed pits 3, 4 and 11 and fixed a powerful ventilator at the mouth of pit 2 with which to force in a current of air. Later an exhaust pump will be utilized to draw out the noxious gases and vitiated air.

Late in the day, after several hours of ventilation of pit 2, the Westphalian rescuers were authorized to descend. They succeeded in penetrating a long distance and recovered 200 bodies, which they brought up.

TO FILL THE FIRST VACANCY.

President Roosevelt Will Appoint Meyer to Cabinet Position.

Washington, March 13.—The personal desires and arrangements of some of the other members of the cabinet will make necessary some shifting about in the president's cabinet in the event that Secretary Taft decides to accept the proffered place on the supreme bench to succeed Justice Brown and the name of George V. L. Meyer of Massachusetts, at present ambassador to Russia, has been favorably considered with the prospect that he will fill the first vacancy.

But it can be stated positively that the president himself has not yet definitely settled just what these changes shall be.

Dora La Pine Convicted.

Madison, S. D., March 13.—Dora La Pine has been convicted of manslaughter in the first degree for the shooting and killing of her husband, Joseph La Pine. The tragedy occurred on Feb. 8.

Depew Not Seriously Ill.

New York, March 13.—The reported illness of Senator Chauncey M. Depew, who has not been in his seat in the senate at Washington for the past two weeks, is causing some concern among his friends in this city, although the rumor that his condition is serious was absolutely denied here by Charles C. Paulding, a nephew.

BATTLE WITH INDIANS

DEPUTY MARSHAL GILSTRAP IS KILLED AND ANOTHER OF-FICER IS WOUNDED.

ANOTHER FIGHT PROBABLE

LARGE FORCE OF OFFICERS IS ON THE WAY TO THE SCENE OF THE TROUBLE.

Vinita, I. T., March 13.—One hundred armed men have gone into the Cherokee country in pursuit of the Wickliffe band of Indian outlaws who on Sunday afternoon, thirty-one miles southeast of Vinita, ambushed a United States marshal's posse of six men, killing one and wounding another. The dead man is Deputy Marshal I. L. Gilstrap, the wounded man Dick Terry, posseman, shot through the body, not fatally.

Reports of the fight, which took place in the settlement of the Nighthawk band of Cherokee Indians—full-bloods who refuse allotments, live by hunting and speak little English—are conflicting. The first report, brought in by a surviving posseman, was that three of his comrades were killed and that only the three Wickliffe brothers were engaged on the other side. A later report is that eleven Indians resisted the posse.

The Wickliffes killed Deputy Marshal Vier about a year and a half ago and the officers have been on their trail ever since. A posse of six men who were pursuing the outlaws overtook them and a hot fight ensued.

Brought in Gilstrap's Body.

Bob Thompson arrived here at 11 p. m. from the scene of the fight at Saline Creek with the body of Deputy Gilstrap. Thompson says that the posse of which he was one, after trailing the Wickliffes all day with bloodhounds, came upon them at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The Indians, eleven in number, took refuge in a ravine and opened fire. The deputies threw themselves upon the ground and a hot fight began, which lasted an hour. Deputy Gilstrap was shot through the head at the first exchange of shots. The deputies were driven gradually back to the head of a ravine. Terry had been wounded and he and Tuttle became separated from the rest of the party. Finally the deputies formed a breastwork, and the Indians, despairing of reaching them, withdrew. Thompson started for Vinita Monday morning. None of the deputies had then arrived. He reports an ugly feeling among the Indians. He is positive one of the attacking party was badly wounded.

Plezz Mann, a posseman who was in the fight, and who brought the first news, walked twenty-eight miles to Tahlequah and told his story of the battle, which was telegraphed to United States Marshal Darrough of this place.

Thirty-five deputy marshals were immediately sworn in and dispatched to the scene of the battle and authority has been granted Marshal Darrough by the department of justice in Washington to increase the number to 100. Marshal Darrough announces that he will employ this many men if necessary to round up the desperadoes.

Desperate Battle Expected.

It is reported that the full-blood Cherokee Indians in the vicinity of the battleground, commonly known as the Nighthawks, are joining the Wickliffes, and the authorities fear that they will barricade themselves in the rough country and a desperate battle ensue before the outlaws are captured. The Wickliffes are members of the Nighthawk band of Indians.

The home of the Wickliffes is in the center of the Nighthawk settlement, where the battle occurred. Many of the Indians have been sheltering the outlaws during their months of scouting, and the officers have arrested many of the Indians for giving such protection to the Wickliffes. It is feared here that the full-bloods in that vicinity, who number several hundred, may join the Wickliffes and that it may be necessary to call out the United States troops. The officers here, however, believe they will be able to cope with the situation successfully.

Deputy Gilstrap was a fearless officer, appointed to succeed J. H. Vier, who was killed by the Wickliffes. He leaves a widow and several children at Kansas, I. T.

Marshal Darrough has asked the department of justice to authorize him to offer $1,000 for the capture of the outlaws.

Only meager details of the fight have been received as yet. The battle occurred far from the railroad and it is hard to get tidings from there.

VICTORY FOR CHICAGO.

Supreme Court Renders Decision in Traction Cases.

Chicago, March 13.—By the decision of the United States supreme court handed down during the day the city of Chicago obtains almost complete control of the local traction situation. The decision sustains the acts of the state legislature extending the life of the charters of the street railway companies to ninety-nine years, but does not sustain the contention of the companies that contract rights, which are limited to fewer years than remain to the charter life of the companies, are also extended. Contracts or ordinances of the city limiting the use of the streets by the company are upheld and the rights of the companies in Chicago are held to expire according to expired terms of the ordinances. In its effect the decision leaves the Union Traction company without any rights whatever other than by franchise in the streets of the north division of the city. It leaves the Union Traction company in the west division without rights excepting where the ordinances contain a purchase clause. It leaves the Chicago City Railway company, which operates all the street car lines on the South Side of the city, without right excepting where their ordinances contain a purchase clause.

"It is a sweeping victory for the city," said Mayor Dunne. "There are no ninety-nine year franchises in the city of Chicago, according to this decision, and no indefinite or perpetual grants in the outlying territory. We have the traction companies now in a position where we can negotiate for the purchase of the lines. If they do not want to sell at a fair price we can declare our rights under the decision."

Carlist Movement Reported.

Madrid, March 13.—An incipient Carlist movement is reported to have broken out in Catalonia. The authorities have taken steps to suppress the outbreak.

PAPER TRUST CASES

FEDERAL SUPREME COURT DECIDES WITNESSES MUST ANSWER QUESTIONS.

Washington, March 13.—In an opinion by Justice McKenna the supreme court of the United States has decided against the witnesses in the paper trust cases, holding that they should answer the questions propounded to them in the proceedings against the alleged trust brought by the government. The cases originated in Minnesota and Wisconsin. The Wisconsin cases were dismissed for want of jurisdiction, while in the Minnesota cases the verdict of the court for the district of Minnesota was affirmed.

The names of the parties to the Minnesota cases were: Benjamin F. Nelson, president of the Hennepin Paper company; Anselm C. Brossard, treasurer and manager of the Itasca company; and Clarence I. McNair, general manager of the Northwest Paper company.

MISS ANTHONY DEAD

NOTED WOMAN SUFFRAGIST EX-
PIRES OF HEART FAILURE
AT ROCHESTER, N. Y.

END WAS NOT UNEXPECTED

DOUBLE PNEUMONIA HAD LEFT
HER HEART SO WEAK IT PRE-VENTED RECOVERY.

Rochester, N. Y., March 13.—The long and eventful life of Susan B. Anthony closed at 12:40 o'clock a. m. The end came peacefully. Miss Anthony had been unconscious practically for twenty-four hours and her death had been momentarily expected since Sunday night. Only her wonderful constitution kept her alive.

Dr. M. S. Ricker, her attending physician, said Miss Anthony died of heart failure induced by double pneumonia. She had had serious valvular heart trouble for the past six or seven years. Her lungs were practically clear, and the pneumonia had yielded to treatment, but the weakness of her heart prevented her recovery.

Miss Anthony was taken ill while on her way home from the national suffrage convention in Baltimore. She stopped in New York, where a banquet was to have been given Feb. 20 in honor of her eighty-sixth birthday, but had an attack of neuralgia on Feb. 18 and hastened home. Pneumonia developed after her arrival here and on March 6 both lungs became affected.

After that she became unable to retain nourishment and showed an alarming weakness. Last week, however, she seemed to improve and her friends hoped she was out of danger.

Attack of Heart Failure.

Then came the attack of heart failure Sunday afternoon, following which she sank into unconsciousness. From that time on almost the only sign of life manifested was the feeble pulse beat and the labored breathing.

Miss Anthony herself had believed that she would recover. Early in her illness she told her friends that she expected to live to be as old as her father, who was over ninety when he died.

Miss Anthony was greatly beloved in this city, which had been her home since 1845. She lived to see a decided change in sentiment from the time, in the winter of 1861, when she was hissed and hooted when she attempted to give a lecture on abolition in Corinthian hall. That lecture tour, which started in Buffalo, was a series of riots, but Miss Anthony never flinched. The insults heaped upon her culminated in Syracuse, where she was egged and turned in effigy. Her life for the past few years had been in strong contrast to those stormy times. She lived with her sister, Miss Mary Anthony, whose devotion to "Susan B." as she invariably called her, was touching. Their cosy home was the Mecca of all suffragists.

Until very recently Miss Anthony was as much engrossed in reform movements as at any time in her career and travelled over the country and made a trip abroad a year or so ago with little appearance of fatigue.

Miss Anthony has said almost every reform that she advocated had been accomplished with the exception of the right of suffrage.

WOOD TELLS OF THE FIGHT.

Says There Was No Wanton Destruction of Women and Children.

Manila, March 13.—Major General Wood, who has arrived here, has announced that he assumes full responsibility for the fight against the Moros at Dajo hill near Jolo. He said that there was no wanton destruction of women and children in the fight, though the Moros used them as shields in the hand-to-hand fighting. General Wood declared that many of the women were male attire and their sex could not be distinguished. Another confusing cause was the desperation with which the women fought, the priests having worked all of the Moros to a religious frenzy. Many of the Moros feigned death and butchered the American hospital men who were relieving the wounded.

BEFORE COMMERCE COMMISSION.

Witnesses Give Important Testimony Regarding Rates on Oil.

Kansas City, Mo., March 13.—In the interstate commerce hearing here during the day into the charges of the Kansas Oil Producers' association, that Kansas railways discriminate in favor of the Standard Oil company in the matter of giving rates on oil, A. F. Robertson of Cherryvale, Kan., a member of the Uncle Sam Oil company, and F. A. Leland, assistant general freight agent of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway, gave important testimony.

Fatal Train Wreck.

COMMITTED SUICIDE.

Nanchang Magistrate Was Not Killed by a Missionary.

Shanghai, March 13.—Private advices received here from Kiukiang, province of Kuangsi, confirm the previous reports that the magistrate who died at Nanchang March 1 as the result of a stab wound, said to have been self-inflicted or received at the hands of a Catholic missionary, committed suicide.

It was the wounding of the Nanchang magistrate that led to the rioting of last month, during which six French Catholic missionaries and three British Protestant missionaries were killed.

BEMIDJI expects the Backus-Brooks people to erect a saw mill there this season with a capacity of 150,000 feet per day.

IT is now understood that W. W. Rich will not get the White Earth appointment but that the new Indian agent there will be B. S. Bennett, of Fosston, a former member of the legislature. From the fact that the interior department has decided to oppose the re-appointment of Agent Mischelet, Representative Steenerson has decided on Bennett and is joined by Clapp in the request.

MAYER SENDS IN HIS REPLY.

Believes Ballots of New York City Election Could Be Recounted.

Albany, N. Y., March 13.—Attorney General Mayer sent to the state assembly during the evening his reply to the resolution asking him "to inform the assembly whether in his opinion, in proceedings, taken in accordance with Chapter 16 of the code of civil procedure, the ballot boxes containing the ballots cast at the last election in New York city can be opened and the ballots recounted and whether the said William R. Hearst or any candidate upon the said municipal ownership ticket has made complaint to him, or request that he commence such action."

In his reply the attorney general says neither William R. Hearst, nor any other candidate upon the municipal ownership ticket at the election which took place in the city of New York on Nov. 7, 1905, has made any complaint to the attorney general or requested him to commence any action in accordance with Chapter 16 of the code of civil procedure or otherwise.

The attorney general says he believes the court could order the ballot boxes reopened and the votes recounted on presentation of facts showing fraud.

EVIDENCE ALL SUBMITTED.

Arguments Begun in Packers' Case at Chicago.

Chicago, March 13.—The final evidence was submitted and arguments commenced in the packers' case late in the day. Several witnesses were introduced by the packers to refute certain statements made on the stand by special agents for the government and Mr. Durand was then called by the government to explain certain matters in his previous testimony. As soon as his evidence was finished Attorney Miller, representing Armour & Co., made a motion that Judge Humphrey direct a verdict in favor of the packers. A cross-motion was at once offered by District Attorney Morrison that the evidence be excluded and a verdict directed in favor of the government. Arguments were immediately begun and will probably last for several days.

The hole torn in the roof is almost directly over a room occupied by several of the strike-breakers. The explosion was made from a dynamite bomb set off by a slow fuse. The police arrested a man seen running through an alley following the explosion. The explosion caused great excitement in the hotel and vicinity, but so far as learned no one was hurt.

FINE CATHEDRAL ORGAN

St. John's at New York to Have One Costing $50,000.

NOTED FOR ITS IMMENSE POWER

Instrument For New Episcopal Cathedral Will Be One of the Most Powerful in the World—Hope-Jones System of Tone Producing Will Be Used—The Gift of Mr. and Mrs. Levi P. Morton.

An organ which is designed to be one of the most powerful in the world has been ordered by the authorities of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York. It is to cost $50,000 and is to be constructed with funds contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Levi P. Morton, says the New York Times.

The instrument is to be built jointly by Robert Hope-Jones, who constructed the organ in Worcester cathedral in England, now known as the most powerful in the world, and Ernest M. Skinner, builder of the organs in Grace church, New York, and Plymouth church, Brooklyn. Mr. Hope-Jones came to America about a year ago and has since entered into a corporation, of which Mr. Skinner is the head. They have built a factory in Boston, and there the big cathedral organ will be constructed.

No plans have been drawn for the instrument. The authorities of the cathedral chose the builders they thought could serve them best and told them to construct the finest instrument they could turn out.

In building this organ Mr. Hope-Jones will use for the first time in the United States the method for producing tones which he first employed in the Worcester cathedral and since in the organs in Edinburgh town hall and Llandaff cathedral. This method has been a subject of controversy in Great Britain for years and will probably cause much discussion in America.

Mr. Hope-Jones discards reed pipes, which depend for their tones upon the vibration under air pressure of a metal tongue against an opening in the pipe. He was formerly an electrical engineer and employed his knowledge of mechanics in producing sounds. He uses springs, valves and cylinders and operates the organ by electricity.

He procures the puffing, or beating of the air current into his resonators, by means of a device that reminds one of the piston of an engine. With an electric blower as a propelling power for the traveling rod and mechanical devices to insure its quick return this piston works up and down, alternately admitting and excluding the air and thus causing vibrations that sound the required notes in the air chambers. The builder declares that he can get more uniform tones than are possible with reeds, because he can govern with certainty his air current.

His device had a trial last spring in St. Patrick's cathedral when Mr. Hope-Jones put up a dozen resonators and gave an opportunity for a comparison of his organ with reeds. The result of this trial has been the order by the authorities of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

A special electrical plant for this organ will be installed, and huge blowers will be put in to furnish the air. It is probable that some of the resonators will be remarkable in themselves. Some of those used in the Worcester cathedral extend far underneath the floor, and the tone produced by some of them fairly shakes the building. Mr. Hope-Jones uses cubes, oblongs, spheres and other shapes for his resonators, and for the basic tone a great air space is necessary.

HATLESS WOMEN IN CHURCH

Brooklyn Pastor's Experiment So Men May See the Preacher.

At the request of the men of his congregation who not only want to hear but see the preacher as well the Rev. Warren H. Wilson, pastor of the Arlington Avenue Presbyterian church, Brooklyn, has requested that the women in the congregation remove their hats before the services begin, says the New York Herald.

"I know that in his epistle to the Corinthians St. Paul declares against women going to prayer uncovered," Mr. Wilson said the other night, "but it is not always possible to run a modern church along the lines laid down by St. Paul. Many of the men in my congregation have asked me to do this thing, as they could not see me if they were more than five or six rows back, so I decided to try the experiment. "I am interested in the experiment, as I believe that in time it will be the custom in all churches for women to remove their hats. Persons going to religious services desire more than to hear, and in many cases their view of the pulpit is shut off by the large hats."

Wheel Chair Races at Palm Beach.

Snapshot artists at Palm Beach, Fla., are busy these days trying to take pictures of the wheel chair races, which are the very latest fad at that fashionable resort, says a correspondent of the New York Press. This sport, which the millionaires find so bracing, isn't so amusing to the men who do the pushing. However, the latter individuals are compensated by generous tips. In the first contest the other day August Belmont's negro chairman won his wager and received such a large remuneration that he remarked, to the delight of the company, that he would be willing to race Mr. Belmont through the streets of New York any time he wanted to try it.

WAS DECISIVE VICTORY

Little Falls Beat Brainerd in a Basket Ball Game Played in Little Falls on Saturday Evening

The basket ball team of the Brainerd high school was handily defeated by the local school team in a game played at the opera house Saturday evening, the final score standing 41 to 10 in favor of the home team. After the first few minutes of play the issue of the struggle was never in doubt, but the visitors put up a stiff, scrappy game against heavy odds and showed themselves to be thorough gentlemen and sportsmen. The game was unusually free from wrangles and disputes, the decisions of the officials being accepted by both sides without the dissatisfied comment which is often common.

The score at the end of the first half stood 18 to 4 in favor of the home team. In the second half Little Falls made 23 points to Brainerd's 6, making the final score 41 to 10 in favor of the locals.

A Delightful Number

Every one fond of good, original reading matter should make it a point to read the current March issue of Sports Afield. Dr. Franklin Hawley's account of the Opening of Oklahoma is remarkably interesting and virile, as is also Edward Hickson's paper on Caribou Hunting in New Brunswick, which is followed by Frank Slick's sympathetic study of boy life, "It Snowed and You Were Young." In this issue also Dr. Robt. Hudson begins a series of travel papers, descriptive of a trip through New and Old Mexico, abounding in useful information both to the student and business man. While he sees the faults of our Spanish cousins, he notes their good points as well. In "How I Evened Up with Dad" we have another story by the inimitable Ross Kiner; while Prof. Compton's "Pioneer Times on the Ohio" will interest young and old alike. Rev. O. W. Smith's account of a trip to the West Branch of Wolf River will stir the blood of every fisherman; while a vast amount of newsy notes from the game-lands of the world help to round out the March issue of this capital magazine. CALL EXTENDED TO NEW PASTOR

Members of First Baptist Church Extend a Call to Rev. A. P. Garrett

MAY BUILD A NEW CHURCH

Young Man Comes Here with Sort of Understanding to That Effect

A meeting of the members of the First Baptist church was held last night and it was voted unanimously to extend a call to Rev. A. P. Garrett, of Paribault, to become pastor of this church. The church has been without a pastor for a short time, and the members have been anxious to fill the vacancy, but they wanted to be sure and get the right man for the place. Mr. Garrett is a young man full of energy and push and he is sure to succeed here.

It is sort of an understanding that if he accepts the call the members will put forth an effort to raise money to build a new church. The church owns the corner just north of the present edifice, and it is proposed to erect a handsome building here, the present structure being entirely inadequate.

This is the season of listlessness, headaches and spring disorders. Hollister's Rocky Mountain tea is a sure preventative. Makes you strong and vigorous. 35 cents, tea or tablets. H. P. Dunn & Co.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

OLA JOHANN SAERVOLD
Ola Johann Saervold, the noted lecturer will be in Brainerd tomorrow and tomorrow night he will deliver his famous illustrated lecture on "Norway." He uses a mammoth canvass upon which are thrown the views and it is said no finer pictures were ever shown. The following regarding the lecture is taken from the Argus-Leader, of Sioux Falls, S. S.: "If there was a Norwegian at Booth's opera house last evening who was not proud of the fatherland, he must have been dull of soul and devoid of patriotism. The occasion was the illustrated lecture by Ola Johann Saervold on Norway, the entertainment being given under the the auspices of the Norwegian Lutheran Normal school. The theatre was well filled by a splendid audience, which was taken by the lecturer on a complete tour through picturesque Norway, which rivals Switzerland in beauty and scenery, and is just now the mecca of thousands of tourists. The lecturer showed that Norway stood at the head of nations in education, in her ocean-going merchant marine, and was taking rapid strides to the front in literature and the drama. The Norwegian people have shown great progress in their adaptations of electricity, and the telephone is in more common use than in any country in the world."

MIDLAND MUSINGS

(Special Correspondence.)
The Midland-Brainerd road is still in fair condition. The only bad spots are at and near Neutral.

Deputy J. J. Crowell announces that he has another class of 15 ready for the next Woodman meeting.

From the amount of plowing to be seen on all sides, Crow Wing county certainly ought to have a big crop.

The rural route on the Mille Laes road must have been laid out by an Irishman, for every mail box is painted green.

Many of the Indians have left the reservation, and it is estimated that 600 or 700 are living at various points on Mille Laes lake.

Near Brainerd the J. M. Elder farm has put in a long line of tiling for draining. They have solved the question of permanent fence posts by using boiler flues.

H. F. Mann, who conducts the Midland hotel and store, has made many improvements at both places. Above the store is the fine Woodman hall which possesses a well laid hardwood floor and is thus splendidly equipped for dancing.

Vineland Camp, M. W. A., will give a dance next Friday evening, March 16, at Woodman hall. H. F. Mann and J. J. Crowell are on the music committee and Geo. Roberts, Geo. Smith and J. B. Avery on the floor committee. There will be music from Brainerd and a large attendance is expected.

MIDNIGHT REVIVAL MEETING

First Day of New Torrey-Alexander Campaign in Philadelphia Ends With Thrilling Scene.

One Hundred and Fifty Outcasts Simultaneously Manifest a Wish to Get Right With God—Fervid Singing of Revival Melodies by Men a Striking Feature.

Interest of Visitors in the Great Work.

By GEORGE T. B. DAVIS.

The second of Philadelphia's three months' revival campaign conducted by Dr. Torrey and Mr. Alexander began Sunday, March 4, in a large military armory on South Broad street. The building has been remodeled and fitted with chairs to accommodate 5,400 persons. On either side of the auditorium a large gallery has been erected, while at one end of the choir seats accommodating 700 singers rise sharply from the floor almost to the roof of the building. While addressing the audience the evangelists stand upon a high pulpit platform without a strip of railing around it, similar to that which was built for them at the Second regiment armory, where the first month's revival meetings recently ended. In this building also light is supplied chiefly by hundreds of incandescent bulbs hung artistically in long festoons from the roof of the auditorium. Megaphone transmitters have also been placed near the speakers' platform, by which the preaching and singing is carried over the wires to all parts of Philadelphia.

The meetings on the opening day were again for women only in the afternoon and for men only in the evening. About fifty converts were recorded at the two meetings. Although this number is comparatively small, the evangelists seemed pleased with it, and they expect to reap an even greater harvest of converts during the coming month's meetings than were recorded in the first series.

Fervid Singing of Revival Melodies.

The most striking feature of the first day's services was the fervid singing of the new revival melodies by the audience of men at night. Under the leadership of the magnetic Alexander a high pitch of spiritual enthusiasm was reached in a few minutes after the meeting began. It was an old camp meeting melody entitled "The Old Time Religion," which produced an almost magical effect upon the audience. Mr. Alexander taught them how to sing it in true southern style, and in a few minutes from thousands of throats resounded lustily the verse and refrain:

Makes me love ev'rybody,
Makes me love ev'rybody,
And it's good enough for me.

'Tis the old time religion,
'Tis the old time religion,
'Tis the old time religion,
And it's good enough for me.

After this the men sang verse after verse of the old melody, the tide of enthusiasm reaching higher with each line. Two of the verses began thus:

It was good for our fathers,
It will lead me to Jesus.

Then Mr. Alexander improvised a line and had the audience sing

It is good for Philadelphia.

Finally the climax was reached as he had them all singing very softly:

It will take us all to heaven,
It will take us all to heaven,
It will take us all to heaven,
And it's good enough for me.

Both afternoon and evening Dr. Torrey preached on the excuses men give for not becoming Christians. He took as his text, "And they all with one consent began to make excuses." "And," said the preacher, "they have been at it ever since. The gospel invitation is an invitation to a feast. Men treat it as if it were an invitation to a funeral. I think that nothing more shows the folly and wickedness of men and women than the way in which they treat God's invitation of mercy and of love. If a great earthly king were to invite you to feast with him everybody would move heaven and earth to be there. But when the great king of heaven and earth, the great king of glory, provides his feast such as no monarch on earth ever provided and sends out his invitation the great majority of us instead of accepting it with glad alacrity try to find some excuse for not doing so.

One Week Too Late.

"Some will say: 'I want to wait. I want to be a Christian some time, but not tonight.'" Dr. Torrey then told of a woman who was convinced that she ought to become a Christian, but did not want to do so right away. He said:

"She went to her desk and wrote on a sheet of note paper, 'One year from tonight I promise to attend to the affairs of my soul,' and then went back to bed, but she could not sleep, so she got up and wrote a better resolution. In six months she would attend to the affairs of her soul. Again she could not sleep, and she arose and wrote a yet better resolution, fixing the time of her reformation at one month. Still sleep did not come. Then she arose and wrote a promise to become a Christian within two weeks from that night. She could not sleep even after that until she wrote a final resolution to become a Christian within a week. Then she slept. The next night she went to an entertainment, caught cold and became ill with lung fever. She woke out of delirium a few moments before the week expired and cried out, 'Just one week too late!' and died without God and without hope."

Dr. Torrey said that some men give as their excuse the fact that they are too great sinners. He then cited the cases of three of the worst sinners he had ever known and declared that he had told God that if he would save them he would never despair of another person as long as he lived. He said:

"I have met three people in my life who seemed to me to be the most hopeless cases I have ever met. One was a man who had been a Christian and then had backslidden. In utter despair he had attempted suicide at least five times, and he had to be constantly watched lest he should do away with himself. He thought he had committed the unpardonable sin, that he had sinned away his day of grace, that he was possessed by the devil and that there was no salvation for him.

"The second was a man who was a hopeless drunkard. In one of his drunken furies he had tried to kill his wife, and she had been forced to leave him and hide from him. He went down deeper and deeper. He used to come round to my office every few days and want me to lend him money to go down to some place to get a job, but I knew that every penny he got would go to the saloon. I suppose he got hundreds of dollars a year out of different persons in my office which he simply squandered upon drink.

Professional Murderess.

"The other was a woman who was a professional murderess. She came to hear me preach one time and became under deep conviction of sin. But she was bound she would not give up her sin, and that woman deliberately got down and prayed to the devil, asking the devil to take away her conviction. The next time I saw her she came up to me and said: 'You can preach all you want to now. You can't trouble me any more. You did make me uneasy, but I knelt down and asked the devil to harden my heart, and he has done it.' And she laughed in my face. 'Ha, ha,' she said. 'You can talk all you please. It won't move me.'

"Those three appeared to me the most hopeless cases I ever met. I told the Lord that if he would give me to see those three persons clearly saved I would never despair of mortal man or woman as long as I lived. And God gave me the whole three."

The first day of the new campaign closed with a midnight revival meeting in a low class theater in Philadelphia. At the end of the night meeting in the armory Mr. Alexander went to the theater, accompanied by Melvin E. Trotter, the converted drunkard of Grand Rapids, Mich. They found the building packed with a motley audience of drunks, vagabonds and outcasts from one of the toughest districts of the city. Mr. Alexander led them in singing one or two revival hymns and then called upon his friend, Mr. Trotter, to tell how he was saved from the life of a drunkard and criminal. In the picturesque language of the street Mr. Trotter told the story of his salvation. His talk was frequently interrupted with outbursts of laughter and approval from his audience. When he asked all those who wished to get right with God and to be prayed for to raise their hands a thrilling scene was enacted. There were nearly 300 of the roughest looking men in the upper balcony, and when Mr. Trotter made his appeal almost simultaneously 150 hands were raised aloft.

An Editor's Answer.

Last night I heard an interesting story about the managing editor of one of the Philadelphia dailies. A correspondent recently sent the paper a communication abusing the evangelists and roundly criticizing the revival movement and saying that he did not believe in a God. The editor laid the letter aside and did not answer it. The man did not understand why his communication did not appear and wrote several post cards inquiring the reason. Finally the writer called in person and asked why his letter had not been printed. The managing editor said to him: "Well, I just wanted to have a good look at the man who could write such a letter criticizing the revival effort and saying that he did not believe in a God. I just wanted to see what sort of a man he looked like." And the interview ended.

Visitors continue to come to Philadelphia to witness the great work. Two of the interesting visitors of the last few days are Canon H. G. Dixon and his wife of Toronto. They were so impressed with the work of Dr. Torrey and Mr. Alexander in their city recently that they went to Philadelphia to spend a few days studying the movement. Canon Dixon declares that the revival fires started in Toronto are still burning brightly and that over 4,000 converts were recorded during the month's campaign of the revivalists. He declares that since they left Toronto he has had word of the conversion of a brilliant criminal lawyer as the result of the meetings and that his conversion alone was worth the entire cost of the campaign.
